Help through community and solidarity is the motto of the Anonymous Alcoholics. In regional and local self-help groups in the whole of Switzerland, people with alcohol problems meet once a week. They are men and women who have admitted their problem. Each person shares their fears, their small and big challenges, worries, the successes in everyday life, in the family and at work. Everyone listens to each other. Experience, strength and hope are shared. Because all AA members are themselves alcoholics, they bring the necessary understanding for each other.

In the center is the alcohol disease. The anonymity is the basic principle of the Anonymous Alcoholics. Age, profession, confession and origin play no role within the AA community. The only prerequisite for AA membership is the wish to stop drinking. Meetings: www.anonyme-alkoholiker.ch/meetings/aargau
